

Statement of participation

Michael Frank

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

Starting with law

This 3-hour free course gave an introduction to law by exploring the legal concepts of legal capacity and our individual rights and responsibilities.

Issue date: 28 July 2018

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification.
This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner.
Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/society-politics-law/starting-law/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: Y186_1

Starting with law

<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/society-politics-law/starting-law/content-section-0>

Course summary

This free course, Starting with law, explores key legal concepts such as legal capacity and the rights and responsibilities of the individual. You will examine how laws are made, and how they affect us at different points in our lives. It is an ideal course if you are a beginner or returning to study.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- explain why the law matters
- give some examples of legal rights and responsibilities
- understand how different reading styles suit different purposes.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

What is law and why does it matter?

Section 2

Starting to think about rights and responsibilities

Section 3

Learning skills – reading efficiently and with purpose

Section 4

Conclusion