

Statement of participation

Michael Frank

has completed the free course including any mandatory tests for:

---

Meeting minority needs

This 1-hour free course explored how it is possible to meet the needs of a particular minority community: the Chinese who live in Northern Ireland.

---

Issue date: 20 August 2018

www.open.edu/openlearn

This statement does not imply the award of credit points nor the conferment of a University Qualification. This statement confirms that this free course and all mandatory tests were passed by the learner. Please go to the course on OpenLearn for full details:
<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care/meeting-minority-needs/content-section-0>

COURSE CODE: K202_2

---

Meeting minority needs

---

<http://www.open.edu/openlearn/health-sports-psychology/social-care/meeting-minority-needs/content-section-0>

---

Course summary

This free course, Meeting minority needs, will help you understand how it is possible to meet the needs of a particular minority community: the Chinese who live in Northern Ireland. The audio file outlines some of the problems that this community are facing as well as describing the differences experienced by older Chinese inhabitants who require care and support.

Learning outcomes

By completing this course, the learner should be able to:

- understand how minority communities require different types of support from caring agencies.

Completed study

The learner has completed the following:

Section 1

The Chinese Welfare Association's Carer Support Project, Belfast

Section 2

Background to the Annual Report of the Chinese Welfare Association (1998)

Section 3

Audio and activity

Section 4

Conclusion